Mission:

The mission of the International Human Rights Union is to work for the protection of human rights for all people, to help empower people to realize their rights and to assist those responsible for upholding such rights in ensuring that they are implemented.

Contribute to the development of international human rights standards and norms through the UN and other international institutions.

Promote the incorporation of international human rights standards.

Objective:

To promote respect for all without discrimination. To promote social culture and character. To promote a peaceful environment for all. To encourage the citizens to abide by their rights and duties.

Our Approach:

IHRU tries to change the debate over human rights in the world, where double standards remain embedded, and the voices of the most vulnerable people are ignored. IHRU Now cooperates with organizations from around the world, aiming to facilitate a fair decision-making process within the international community that reflects the opinions of all stakeholders, especially those who are most vulnerable and suffering.

Our Methodology:

Our approach to human rights work consists primarily of conducting:

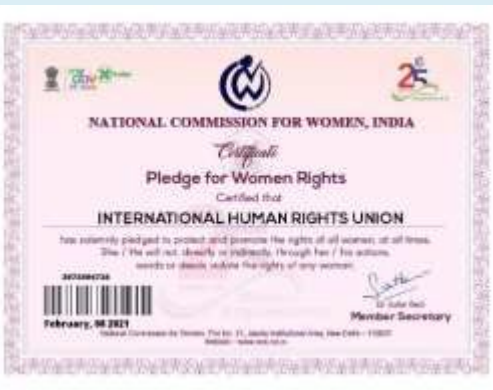

Fact-finding investigations: IHRU conducts fact-finding missions in places where people suffer from serious violations of human rights and humanitarian law. Such missions include conducting field investigations, publicizing reports and calling for international attention to an issue.

Advocacy and campaigns: IHRU also conducts awareness-raising campaigns to mobilize public attention to address serious human rights situations.

Empowerment through education, training and skills: IHRU gives full support to grassroots efforts of civil societies based on the firm belief that such activities can make a real difference for human rights situations on the ground. IHRU support the development and delivery of skills training programs that benefit women and adolescent girls working in the informal and formal economies in various states of the country.

ISSUES: IHRU focuses on the following issues: accountability for gross human rights violations; industry and human rights; human rights defenders; economic, social and cultural rights; and the rights of women, children, ethnic minority groups and other vulnerable peoples. Some major issues i.e.

Children's Rights and Girl's Rights: IHRU conducts fact-finding investigations on human rights violations against children and girls, and it makes policy recommendations to protect their rights. The area includes the issues of trafficking, child labour and violations of the right to health. IHRU works on the protection of human rights defenders by awarding and highlighting their work, by documenting and investigating attacks against human rights defenders, and by raising alarms when their situations are at risk. IHRUU also calls on state activists to ensure rights to freedom of assembly and association, oppose excessive restrictions and use of force, and work to protect a democratic space for people around the world.

Economic, Social and Cultural Rights: IHRU believes that deprivation of Economic Social and Cultural rights is grave violation of the most fundamental human rights, and thus gives special focus to these rights. IHRU works on awareness regarding violations of Economic Social and Cultural rights in the name of "Development" such a land grabbing and violations of indigenous rights. IHRU also works for Labour rights violations and exploitation in the course of global business. IHRU working together with NGOs from around the world to takes actions for complete eradication of domestic violence, human trafficking, and honor killing of women, rape, and any other violence against women. IHRU also works on the elimination of discriminatory and unjust punishment as well as the exploitation of women.

Food Distribution Program: The COVID-19 pandemic brought new challenges to food security viz., access to nutritious & healthy food during the lock down periods across the country. As food and nutrition are vital to overall physical and mental well-being and is one of the most basic human rights, it becomes an imperative social responsibility to provide people access to healthy and nutritious food. India's national lockdown in 2020 in response to the Covid-19 crisis, was one of the harshest in the world. It threw millions of people out of work and sharply reduced their earnings. With the loss of purchasing power and continued work restrictions in many areas, the economic crisis continued well after the national lockdown. In pursuance of its professed objective, IHRU rose to the occasion and provided food at no cost to people with limited access. IHRU served food to the needy people during this phase in the states of Bihar, Jharkhand & Delhi.

Swachh Bharat Abhiyan: A clean and green India was the dream of Mahatma Gandhi and Prime Minister of India, Sh. Narendra Modi ji declared to make it a reality on the birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi. IHRU makes sanitation drive with our members under Swacch Bharat Abhiyanin Delhi and Gurugram, Haryana. A cleanliness drive organized to get rid of poor sanitation and clean up the streets and campus of the institution to improve health and hygiene.

We are bringing awareness among the people through holistic healing unit which covers yoga, acupressure, auriculotherapy and naturopathy. These are helps to manage stress and anxiety and helps to stay relaxed. Yoga is an art of living whose goal is a healthy mind in a healthy body. it is the responsibility of all of us to encourage them for physical, mental and spiritual strength. Keeping this ideology in mind, the organization keeps on organizing such events from time to time.
